Most of reports we receive are like this "I am writing to report the sinking of a seal carcass at Vidlin (Grid Reference - HU485676) on 21.04.2020. 1 Grey seal was culled using a single shot to the head by a licenced marksman – this has been reported to Marine Scotland and RSPCA. Unfortunately there are not photos available."

I always ask for a photo of the animal when we get a report, though as you can see they aren't particularly good at providing them.

Hope this helps?

Best wishes

Sorry [Redacted], I probably was not clear. Reports that you have received where they have recovered the carcasses and reported these to SMASS.

Thank you

Subject: Seal shot under licence - reporting

Good evening [Redacted]

I hope that this email finds you safe and well in these current trying times.

In February you kindly provided me with details of the number of seals shot under licence that has been reported to SMASS. I am working on a number of issues in relation to seals and it would be really helpful to get the following information from you, preferably in a table.

- Number of seals reported to the scheme in 2020, including species, date of reporting/shooting and location (name of farm or river board)
- Number of seals recovered for necropsy (if not, it would be helpful to know why we couldn't, although I appreciate that this has not been possible since the lockdown was announced)
- Number of seals which were sampled or photo's provided.

I am conscious that we made a concerted effort when the 2020 licences were issued, for people to recover carcasses where possible and report them to you for reporting and collection purposes. It would be good to know if this message has got through.

Many thanks and have a lovely weekend as the weather is looking beautiful.

Kind regards,
